(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

NUMBER 2.

JANUARY 13, 1911, NORWAY, MAINE.

VOLUME XLII.

A Good Ice Harvest.

Each season of the year has its work, peculiar to itself and the past week commencing Thursday and continuing till Tuesday, the ice for the coming summer has been harvested. Lake Pennessee has been a busy place during that time and no small amount of ice has been cut.

The ice this year is of an excellent quality, perfectly clear and free from snow ice, and is a trifle over 17 inches thick.

C. E. Russell has had a large crew at work and has had fine weather to cut.

The first process of cutting the ice was to have the surface free from snow and to have a straight cut along the line of lower part of ice to be cut. Then the marker is used and the surface to be cut is marked into squares, 18 inches square.

After being marked the ice is pulled down by a horse is used to cut the ice. A depth of about 12 inches. A canal, just a trifle over 18 inches in width is cut out from the place where the ice is being cut to the runway.

Monday, George Pike, George Merrill and Charles Ripley were busy at work to snow scraper and ice plow which Alonso Hall freed the cakes in strips of about 40 feet from the main ice and started them toward the canal where Muzzy Judkins and Gene Libby separated them in double cakes and guided them to the runway. At this point Horace Cole took the cakes and started them up the runway, which is a wooden structure with ousled sides. Here Alie Richardson clamped the grapples on to about six cakes and they were pulled up the runway by means of a horse driven by Levi Frost, and deposited at the rise in the runway. Here Will Glover put on another set of grapples and hopped on with the ice and with a puff of the engine, man and ice were carried up the incline and the ice sent into the addition to the ice house, where Ephraim Dunham, William Walker, Homer Truman, Harold Damon and Alexander Malvin packed it away in layers. About 4,000 cakes were packed in this addition, and a much larger amount in the ice house.
Percy Damon and Elmer Cambell were in charge of the hoisting engine.

There was also another branch to the work. On the opposite side from the canal which led to the ice house was another canal which led to a raised platform where ice was sold and loaded on to teams for farmers who wished to fill their ice houses and a lot of ice was sold.

There were several of the ice houses at the different cottages also being filled.

D. W. Goodwin was cutting ice with a crew of men near Norway Lake so that Lake Penneesseewas was rather a busy place. Sunday, a large number of spectators called around to see the process of ice cutting.

Judge Savage's Findings In Sheriff Controversy.

J. Melvin Bartlett, Pet'r., v. Bertrand G. McIntire.

This is a petition brought under R. S. Chap. 6, Sec. 70, to determine whether the petitioner or the respondent elected sheriff of Oxford County for the term beginning January 1, 1911, or whether the defendant was elected sheriff of said county by the voters of said county, and whether the petitioner is performing the duties of the office.

By the official returns to the Secretary of State it appeared that the petitioner, Bartlett, had received 3,707 ballots, and the defendant, McIntire, had received 3,710. A certificate of election has been issued to Mr. McIntire by the Governor and Council, and at the date of this finding he is performing the duties of the office.

Mr. Bartlett alleges in substance, and contends that upon a correct count of all the ballots cast for sheriff it will appear that he received a plurality, and that he was elected sheriff of said county, and that judgment to that effect ought now to be rendered in this proceeding.

No technical questions of pleadings or procedure have been raised by either party, and the sole question at issue is, whether the ballots returned for Mr. Bartlett, and what for Mr. McIntire. The case depends upon the result of a correct count made under the rules of law.

By agreement of parties, after the case was called on for argument, certain features of the count to certain numbered ballots residing in different parts of the county. These commissioners ascertained and reported to me the condition of the ballot in each town so far as agreed by the parties.

I then proceeded to determine the result of the count. The ballots were numbered serially all the disputed ballots in each town, and returned them to me. By the returns of the commissioners it appeared the whole number of ballots cast for sheriff was 7,417. Of these the parties agreed that 3,703 were counted for Bartlett, and 3,820 for McIntire. They also agreed that there were 36 defective Bartlett ballots, and 36 defective McIntire ballots. The returns of the commissioners also show that there were 92 ballots which the parties agreed were indeterminate, that is, that it was not possible to determine for which candidate the voter intended to vote, and that there were 38 other ballots which the parties agreed were indeterminate, but did agree were in other respects defective, and not to be counted. The remaining 722 ballots were disputed. And of the disputed ballots, 319 were Bartlett ballots, and 403 McIntire ballots.

I met the parties and their counsel at the Court House in Paris, December 20, 30 and 31, 1910, and examined each of the disputed ballots, after which I heard arguments. I then proceeded to determine the result of the count. The ballots were numbered serially all the disputed ballots in each town, and returned them to me. that the voter in making the second cross in the square was attempting to retrace the first one. These ballots I have counted.

Crosses may be made by ink, or by pencil, or by any other color. E. Crosses may be made of any size within the square. And I have counted ballots when one of the lines has apparently been extended slightly outside the square, and the other line has been retracted.

F. When the ballot showed that the voter, besides making a cross in the square intentionally, although it may be carelessly, made any writing (except such as the statute provides) or any other cross, or mark, or any kind upon the ballot, I regarded it as a distinguishing mark, and did not count the ballot.

G. But when it appeared affirmatively by inspection that a mark had been made on the ballot inadvertently or accidentally, and not for an evil purpose, I have not regarded it as a distinguishing mark within the meaning of the law, and have counted such ballots.

H. Names on a ballot may be erased by drawing a pencil through them, or by scratching, but not by marking a cross upon them, for that is a voting mark.

I. Crosses or other marks, erasures and stickers in another column than the one voted by marking in the square are distinguishing marks. I have not counted such ballots.

J. Crosses or other marks (except erasures of names and the use of stickers, or writing in names) in the column voted or near its margin, are distinguishing marks, whether they have been erased or not. This includes lines not drawn so as to erase names.

K. A sticker upon which no name is printed, pasted over name of candidate, is a distinguishing mark.

L. If a sticker entirely cover the designation of office, or if the designation be erased, the ballot cannot be counted. But when a sticker is so placed that enough of the top parts of the letters of the designation of office remains so that it can be seen by the eye what the office was, the vote should be counted.

M. In this case, I counted several ballots for Mr. McIntire under this rule. If a sticker be used and the name of the other candidate not erased, the ballot cannot be counted for either candidate.

N. Ballot mutilated by cutting out name of candidate, cannot be counted. If a voter has written upon it any words except, as the statute provides, "I vote for," it is not the name of any McIntire on any of the check list in the country of Oxford County, whose initials are "O. G." except that of Bertrand G. McIntire.

O. I have counted for him all ballots on which "B. G. McIntire" was voted for by sheriff. I have also counted for Mr. McIntire ballots on which were broken and declared void, and which appear "rand G. McIntire," "rand G. McIntire," and "rand G. McIntire," also a ballot marked "Bertrand McIntire." But

Young Man Without a Business.

Among the most helpless of human beings is the young man without a business which he thoroughly understands.

The more respectable his family, the more helpless and hopeless he becomes. If there is no one thing which he can do well, he must either depend upon his parents and others for support, in which case about the only good he is to human-clothing, or he must go forth into the world to live more or less by his wits.

Usually a man of this kind has very little moral stamina, and he will come

The Scrap Book

Things He Didn't Understand.
At the table on an incoming liner on a recent trip one of the first cabin passengers found in an oyster one of the tiny seed pearls which look almost exactly like bird shot. Apparently the formation of pearls was a mystery to him, for he examined the thing curiously, picked it up gingerly and laid it on the tablecloth for further investigation.

Now, it is a habit of cooks at sea to carry fishhooks in their pockets, and on this trip, by a curious coincidence, part of a small hook caught in a piece of beefsteak that was served to this particular passenger. As soon as his knife encountered the hard object he started, picked it out carefully and laid it beside his other find on the cloth.
Then he beckoned to the waiter and confidentially whispered in his ear. "I don't want to be impertinent," he said, "but would you mind telling me where you shoot your oysters and why you catch your steaks with a hook and line?"

A Home Song.
I turned an ancient poet's book
And found upon the page,
"Stone walls do not a prison make Nor iron bars a cage."
Yes, that is true, and something more—
You'll find wherever you roam
That marble floors and gilded walls
Can never make a home.
But every house where love abides
And friendship is a guest,
Is surely home, and home, sweet home,
For there the heart can rest.
—Henry van Dyke.

He Was Not Surprised.
"What kind of ducks are these?" asked the visitor in the ornithological department at the museum.
"Labrador," said the attendant. "We paid $1,000 for those two specimens."
"Gosh," exclaimed the visitor, turning to his wife, "he says they paid $1,000 for 'em! I've bought finer ducks for half a dollar many a time. What have you got 'em in that glass case for?" he inquired, addressing the guide again.
"Because they are about the most notable exhibit we have. Those birds were shot in 1856. Labrador ducks are now extinct."
"He says," exclaimed the visitor, turning to his wife once more, "they put 'em in that glass case because they haven't a pleasant odor. And I don't wonder at it. They were shot in 1856."

The Only Thing to Do.
The old veteran had paused in his reminiscences and was mopping his brow, while his audience waited impatiently, thinking he had left off.
"I recollect," he continued dreamily, "that at the battle of Alma I had a very exciting time. Bullets were pelted upon us like rain, men fell right and left, cannon roared like thunder itself, and, worst of all, the enemy had managed to get within a hundred yards of our position. I was mad with excitement and wasn't thinking of anything except just fighting for it I was worth. All of a sudden I turned and found that my regiment had changed its position, and I was cut off—left to the mercy of the enemy, sir!"
The veteran paused. He always does at the most exciting part. He finds it amusing.
"Well, what did you do?" asked an impatient listener.
"Do?" said the old fellow sternly. "Well, I reckon I did a mile in three minutes!"—St. Paul Dispatch.

The Way He Scored.
Sir Charles Todd was for many years at the head of the Adelaide observatory and was the chief of the South Australian weather bureau. Once when visiting one of the smaller towns of the colony he called on a man who had gained a local reputation as a weather prophet. Without disclosing his identity Sir Charles said to him: "I dabble a little in weather predicting myself. Would you mind telling me how you arrive at your conclusions?"
"Oh, that's easy enough," was the reply. "There's an old cove in Adelaide called Todd who puts in the papers what he thinks the weather's going to be, and I always put just the opposite to what he says, and that's the way I score."

Some Puns.
The best pun in the English language is Tom Hood's:
He went and told the sexton,
And the sexton told the bell.
The worst pun is that of the man who fell into a ditch and rose with the remark, "How very ditch-fretting!"
Dr. Johnson said that the pun was "the lowest order of wit, but to this Goldsmith replied, 'The pun, in other words, is the foundation of wit, eh?'"
Every Latin master likes to tell his boys two puns. The first is punning; derivation of restaurant, "Res, a thing; a bull; a bully thing." The other is a derivation of virgin: "Vir, a man; gin, a trap; a man trap."
Among newspaper humorists the pun is dying out. In the old days, the good old days, the Burlington Herald eye man and the Norristown Herald man did pun at each other like this:
We don't care a straw what Shakespeare said—a rose by any other name would not smell as sweet.—Arkansas Traveler.
We have made an out of the above.—Burlington Hawkeye.
Such puns are barely tolerable. They amaze us, they arouse our righteous anger, and they turn the public taste a-rye.—Norristown Herald.

Ghosts Around

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Old Peter Baines had lived alone on the outskirts of Taylorsville for a dozen years, attracting no attention. Then some villager saw a ghost. Peter asked the full particulars and was therefrom considered a believer in ghosts.
Next he inherited $15,000; then his neighbors began to pay him marked attention.
Miss Nancy Beebe, an old maid of nearly forty, had never married because she was homely and had no money. Miss Prudence Higgins was in the same fix. The widow Henderson could marry again if she had a couple of thousand; so could the widow Drew. Mrs. John White was a married woman, but while her husband was a carpenter she had aristocratic tastes and couldn't carry them put for the want of money.

These five women not only heard that old Peter believed in ghosts, but each one arranged her program to have a ghost pay him a midnight visit. He hadn't got his money yet when one night at the most solemn hour and while he was sleeping with his window open a scratching on the casing awoke him to ask what was wanted. It was the first night he had ever been disturbed.

"Peter," said a hollow voice that started the sweat on him, "Nancy Beebe is very unhappy."
"Is that so?" he replied.
"Yes, and it rests with you to make her happy. I am the ghost of her dead mother. I charge you to give her the sum of $2,000 as soon as you get your money. She will marry, and she will bless you. Fall not, Peter—fall not—the smallpox comes to you!"
"She shall have it," replied Peter as he looked out of the window and saw an object in white gliding away. On the next night he was wide awake, but lying on his bed, when a second ghost paid him a visit. He had figured that there was more than one ghost in the world and that there might be another caller. He heard a soft rustling, a cold breeze blew in at the window, and a scary voice announced:

"Peter Baines, do good with your money or you will be found dead. Prudence Higgins is a sad, sad girl. She may commit suicide. If she does you will be to blame for it. You can save her life and make her happy by giving her $2,000. Do it, Peter, and live to be a hundred years old."
"Yes, I'll do it. I want to live to be a hundred. What ghost are you?"
"A grand mother's."
And another white object floated over the grass and through a gap in the fence and was swallowed up in the gloom of night. Some men would have gone around telling what they had seen, but old Peter kept a still tongue and prepared himself for other visits from other ghosts. Where there were two there must be three, the same as crows. He reasoned correctly. On the third night a third ghost appeared. She was being visited by old Peter was not so badly scared when a voice reached his ear, saying: "Peter, grim death is all around you! It flies on wings and stalks on legs. It looks for a victim. It stands at your gate and stares at your house."
"But tell it to pass on," replied Peter. "I want to live to be a hundred years old."
"Then do as I tell you. You know the widow Drew. Make her happy. Give her a chance. When you get your money give her $1,000. It is little to you, but much to her."
"Wouldn't a hundred do?" asked old Peter as he began to feel stung.
"Shall I beckon to death to come and enter this window?" menaced the ghost.

"No, no, no! The widder shall have her thousand. I didn't know but a hundred would do, but I see it won't. Whose ghost are you?"
"That of a gypsy woman who was murdered. Beware of my anger. Do not play me false. I go—I go—I go!" And she "goed." She seemed to get upon a moment in the gap, and the old man thought he heard the ripping of cloth, but she got clear and disappeared before he was sure. He didn't want any more ghosts in his house. He had seen three and promised $5,000 out of his legacy. The pace was too hot. Next night he shut and nailed down the window, but it was in vain. The fourth ghost came and announced that he must provide for the widow Henderson or prepare to be haunted all the rest of his life by evil spirits. He lunged off for a few minutes, but the lights and groans and scratchings on the wall were too much for him. The widow Henderson was to receive $1,500 in cash.

On the next night old Peter took some bedding and lay down under the current bushes, where no fifth ghost could find him. He kept wide awake and alert. At midnight he saw ghost No. 5 appear. She glided for his bedroom window. She was just about to appeal to him when, four other ghosts showed up. The five stood and looked at each other for a moment. Then human voices were heard calling names, and the five ghosts were clawing and scratching and mixing things up, and when the scrap was over, five badly torn and mused bed sheets lay on the grass, along with combs, hairpins and other things. None ever came back, and he saved his cash.

In nearly every place in this vicinity people are very busy harvesting their

Following is a list of the officers:—
N. G.—Dana E. McAllister.
V. G.—Sherman McAllister.
Sec. Sec.—Edgar McAllister.
Fin. Sec.—John Q. Mason.
Treas.—Chas. F. Wilson.

After the work, a fine supper was served consisting of beans and brown pastry and hot coffee and supper was greatly enjoyed by all present, and was rather a feather in the caps of the gentlemen who prepared it.
Our Forests.
The News and Gossip of Laconia, N. H., says editorially: "The movement to increase the tax on timber lands may have a tendency to reduce the timber if pushed too far and that is precisely what we are not aiming at. It is a problem that cannot be solved without the utmost caution. The increase might also put the timber lands into the hands of monopolists as the small owners might be unable to pay the added burden to ownership."

This is true and it is amusing to read the speeches of Ex-Presidents, Ex-Governors and others, and read the newspapers pleading for forests to enhance the value and beauty of the State, and to see the law makers make laws to tax the small timber lots of the farmers out of existence, decrease the value of the farms, make a country of bushlands that do self respecting American farmer would never live in, he could get money enough together to get out, make a land of deserted farms and replace the family of bright boys and girls, the hope and pride of the country, with a foreign population of oftentimes poor farmers.

He Smoked.
"What a small of smoke is about! Do you allow your husband to smoke in the parlor?"
"He doesn't, as a rule, but this morning—" "You are very wrong to allow any exceptions whatever, my dear woman. You ought not to allow him to smoke under any possible circumstances, even once."

"But, my dear woman, this morning he simply had to smoke. His coat was on fire."

ALBANY.

Death of an Aged Lady.
Mrs. Charlotte S. Cummings departed from this life Jan. 4th, 1911, aged 93 years, 1 month and 6 days. Deceased was born in Norway, Nov. 28, 1817, on what was called Frost Hill.
Aunt Charlotte, as she was familiarly called, came to Albany over seventy years ago as the young bride of Captain Hermon Cummings, going home to care for his parents, one of the first settlers, and she has always lived on the same farm cleared by the father, but for nearly 60 years she has lived in what they called the new house which the captain and she had planned and built together.
She was the mother of twelve children, seven of whom are left to mourn for her. There is one brother, Roswell Frost, of Norway, who lives on the old homestead.

Round Mountain Grange of which she was a charter member performed the last rites of the order. There was a large display of flowers presented by friends. Rev. J. H. Little of Bethel spoke words of comfort to the relatives and friends.

WEST PARIS.

In the Sunny South. Glowing accounts have been received from Mrs. Hattie B. Mooney of the place and climate in Florida, where she went this fall to spend the winter. She learned of this place through Dr. F. H. Zephryll, who went there last winter and invested in a lot of land there.

The place has been known as Abbott Station but now is a lively new colony called Zephrylls, situated on the main line of the Seaboard Air Line railroad from Jacksonville 174 miles, to Tampa 38 miles. By automobile road it is only about 25 miles from Tampa. A year ago there were but three old buildings, one a store and the other two abandoned, while now there are from 75 to 100 new buildings and more constantly being added. The high rolling land is fanned night and day by the gentle breeze from the Gulf and the Atlantic give it the very appropriate name of Zephrylls.

Mrs. Mooney has bought a building lot and had a small bungalow surrounded by a broad piazza built upon it, where she is spending a most delightful winter out of doors most of the time. She has sent some of her friends here a picture of herself dressed in a white summer dress standing in front of her bungalow. She has a little garden patch and a few hens for diversion. Her health is much better than last winter. Rheumatism has ceased to afflict her and the place is free from malaria. She walks two miles every other day for her milk and one of her neighbors who is from Naples, Me., goes on the intervening days. This is much better than she was able to do last winter as all her acquaintances here know that on account of rheumatism she was kept constantly in doors all winter. Her friends here are very glad to hear of her welfare and glad for her.

Lulu Emmons has been visiting friends here. Levi Shedd is spending a week or so in Portland. Eva Tucker recently visited her sister Ruth in Lewiston. Paul Lane has been visiting his uncle, C. H. Lane, and family. Leonard B. Swan had a birthday post card shower last Sunday.

Myra Irish of Buckfield has been visiting her sister, Mrs. H. H. Wardwell. Arthur D. Woodrow of Ramford visited Mr. and Mrs. S. T. White, Tuesday. Mrs. Eva Swift was taken sick last Thursday evening but soon recovered.

Mrs. Lena S. Herriek gave up her school this winter and is staying at her home. Friends of Mrs. E. W. Penley will be glad to hear that she is now on the gain and her nurse is no longer needed.

Alvah D. Swift and Emerson Curtis went to Bethel last Friday evening to install the I. O. O. F. officers of that lodge.

The Greenwood Dramatic company gave one of their interesting entertainments here, Tuesday evening, followed by a social dance.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Tuell celebrated their twenty-eighth wedding anniversary last week Monday evening with a whist party in their home.

"Dirk," the Airedale dog that has been cared for by Mrs. Elva E. Locke, has been received by his master, Samuel Barry Locke, in Oxford, Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Billingwood very gladly received a little stranger into their family a week ago Sunday, a six pound boy, who has come to stay.

Della H. Lane, who has been one in Mr. Bates' family, will take a much needed rest and change by going to Pennsylvania to visit her brother Leland.

Israel E. Emmons has been quite sick of late. His daughter Bertha was at home on a holiday vacation when he was taken sick and still remains for his sake.

Mrs. Elva E. Locke left last Monday for a two months' visit with her friend, Jennie Plante, in New York and her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Marshall, in Portland, Me.

Mrs. C. G. Morton has gone to Haverhill, Mass., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Haydon. Her sister Amy visited here first of the week and accompanied her there.

Mrs. E. E. Tuell and family are getting ready to move to Wapole, Mass., where Mr. Tuell went a few weeks ago, Tuesday, they sold at public auction quite a lot of their household furnishings.

expenses are greater. The books have a wide circulation therefore all will be interested in its welfare.

Rev. D. R. Ford was taken sick suddenly with a chill resulting in pneumonia. He had been having a bad cold and was unable to carry his services as usual. He was taken to the hospital on Sunday morning and evening here and afternoon at North Paris. His son-in-law, Dr. Sprague, of Turner was sent for and came to see him Tuesday. A trained nurse came Wednesday. He is a very sick man.

HEBRON.

Edna, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur George of Hebron, died Tuesday morning after ten days' illness of typhoid fever. Her age was 20 years.

Miss George was well-known throughout the town. She was gifted musically and both sang and played the piano and organ. She attended the Baptist church at Hebron Academy and was a member of Hebron Grange, having served several years as secretary of the Grange and she had been re-elected to this honor and was to have been installed to the office Jan. 11.

There survive, besides her parents, one sister, Esther, and two brothers, Giles and Arthur, Jr., and three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. George of Hebron and Mrs. Starrett of Mechanic Falls.

Among the organizations that will be revived for the winter at Colby will be a Hebron club, made up of students who are graduates of Hebron academy. There are a large number of Hebron men in Colby this year.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rice and daughter Vera attended the show at the hall, Saturday evening, it being the glass blowers' last night. Iva Rice was the lucky lady in winning the prize of the four pieces of silver. They also attended the New Year's ball last Monday, Jan. 2d.

Mr. and Mrs. George Holt are boarding at Will Rice's.

Frank McAllister has moved into the new barber shop.

Hazen McAllister is working at East Waterford for Rolfe, driving team.

Engene Lovejoy has moved into the house he purchased of Frank McAllister.

Annie York has returned from Portland, where she has been visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kilgore of Windham are guests at his brother's, W. H. Kilgore's.

Waterford Grange will install their officers Friday evening, meeting to open at 7:30 sharp.

T. C. M. Knight Woman's Relief C. P. will hold an all-day meeting, Saturday. They are to install the officers.

The New Year social season opened very auspiciously at I. O. O. F. hall on Monday night, January 2d, the event being the New Year's ball, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Will Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nason. The hall was very tastefully decorated for the occasion in red and green, under the direction of Mr. Rice. At 9 o'clock the grand march was announced. It was headed by Mr. and Mrs. George Holt, Will Ray and Iva Rice. Excellent music was furnished by Packard's orchestra. A delicious lunch was served at intermission. All pronounced it a most enjoyable affair. The statement is fully sustained as it was well into the early morning hours before the party broke up. There will be a dance under the same management, Saturday evening, Jan. 14th.

The glass blowers while here gave a very interesting show and had a good house every night. They gave several prizes, which was quite an inducement. Iva Rice won the prize of a gold bowl, berry spoon, gravy ladle, cold meat fork and pie knife, by vote as the most popular lady. Mr. and Mrs. Morton Hobson won a very handsome gold clock as the best at waiting couple. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Henley's baby won the diamond ring as the best looking baby. There was a little contest between three boys, Harry Morey, Donald Rice and Ted Brown. The contest was to see who could eat a doughnut hanging from a string, with their hands tied behind them, first. Harry Morey won 25c, and as Ted Brown was so small and didn't get a bite, he was given 10c. It was a very amusing to see the little fellows and caused lots of laughter. After the show was dancing, and the music was excellent.

NORTH WOODSTOCK.

Mrs. Fred Foster is not as well.

Geo. and Henry Brown went to Lewiston, Saturday.

Elmer Lapham is helping H. A. Sessions get his ice.

Grace and Freeman Morse visited their mother, over Sunday.

Mrs. John Smith teaches the Billings school and boards at home.

Nearly all of the Grangers in this neighborhood attended Grange Saturday, it being installation of officers.

Mrs. J. R. Ackley went to Lewiston to the C. M. G. hospital, Monday, and was operated on Tuesday. She is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Lula Brown, who has been confined to the bed for three weeks with a severe attack of muscular rheumatism, is slightly better. Her mother is caring for her.
